Comments

Fires in a fastball in the low-mid 90s early and often. Despite the higher speed, the pitch induces whiffs at the same rate as starter Loa. Pitched against us twice earlier this season in two successful innings, striking out 2 and allowing 1 hit. Best pitch is a tight slider with high velocity that he spots well low and gloveside, rarely leaving it in a vulnerable location. Doesn't throw the changeup too often, but gets hitters out in front when he does. Has only thrown one curveball all summer, so it is likely a non-factor.
