Kampf is a righthander out of Heartland CC in Normal, Illinois, and is coming off of a rough summer in the Chicago Suburban Baseball League. I'm not sure exactly how hard the fastball will be, in one outing this spring it averaged 87.7, while in most it was around 85. Does not have great control of his changeup, leaves it elevated in the zone very often. Curve and Slider are distinctive, curveball has large vertical break and the slider is much tighter with horizontal movement. Curveball has been easy for lefties to see, as they haven't whiffed on it yet, and it has been taken deep twice. Fastball is the easiest pitch to hit, with a great BAA of .449 (22-for-29). Kampf hasn't had much success at school or in lower summer leagues. If he puts runners on (which he tends to do) and leaves the ball over the heart of the zone (which he tends to do), we should be able to take a big lead.
