Began his collegiate career at Old Dominion before transferring to fellow Div I Program College of Charleston. Reliable reliever, making his first start of the summer, and first since throwing 2 scoreless innings to open a 2021 game at William & Mary. Has recently been used in a long reliever role, maxing out at 4 IP on Jul 8, so not sure how deep into this ballgame he will go. Throws a strong fastball mixed with a tight slider. Slider does not break much, but it still baffles hitters to a 57% whiff rate and BAA of .077. Slider is tunneled well at the same arm angle as the fastball. Fastball is much more hittable, with a BAA of .267, and is thrown early and often to LHH. Righties will see a very heavy dose of the slider. Has not thrown a changeup all summer, only once in the spring. However, making his first start, he may need to bring out the pitch as he gets into the second time through the order, so don't completely rule it out.
